ABOUT ME

I am a BSIT student with a strong interest in programming, web development, and IT. I have also completed a Diploma in Information Technology (DIT), where I gained solid knowledge of computer basics, software, and hardware. I enjoy building websites and have a good understanding of both front-end and back-end development. I am always eager to learn new software and emerging technologies. I am capable of working in a team and always strive to complete projects on time. I am currently seeking an opportunity where I can apply my skills effectively and gain practical experience in the field.
